SUMMARY SECTION

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

THE FORESTER DISCOVERY FUND (the "Fund") seeks maximum long-term capital growth.

FEES AND EXPENSES OF THE FUND

The table below describes the fees and expenses that you may pay if you buy and hold shares of the Forester Discovery Fund.

ANNUAL FUND OPERATING EXPENSES (expenses that you pay each year as a percentage of the value of your investment)		Discovery
Management Fees		1.00%
Other Expenses		0.35%
Acquired Fund Fees and Expenses		0.13%
Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses ⁽¹⁾		1.48%

(1) The Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses in this fee table will not correlate to the expense ratio in the Fund's financial statements because the financial statements include only the direct operating expenses incurred by the Fund, not the indirect costs of investing in other mutual funds.

EXAMPLE

This Example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Forester Discovery Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds.

The example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of these periods. The Example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the Fund's operating expenses remain the same. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions, your costs would be:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Discovery	$151	$468	$808	$1,768

Portfolio Turnover

The Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or "turns over" its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when Fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual operating expenses or in the Example affect the Fund's performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the Fund's portfolio turnover rate was 171.22% of the average value of its portfolio.

PRINCIPAL INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

THE DISCOVERY FUND is diversified and invests in the common stocks of companies throughout the world that it believes are under-valued and have great appreciation potential.

The Fund generally invests at least 65% of its net assets in the common stocks of non-U.S. companies. These companies may operate in developed countries, such as the Western European countries, Japan and Canada, as well as in firms based in emerging markets, typically in the Far East, Latin America and Eastern Europe. There are no restrictions on the size of the companies in which the Fund may invest. The fund was defensive from inception through 10/2008

The Fund generally purchases a stock only at a price Forester Capital Management ("Forester Capital" or "FCM"), the Fund's investment adviser, deems significantly below the intrinsic value of the company - Forester Capital's estimate of the amount a buyer would pay to own the entire company. Forester Capital performs its own fundamental analysis of the company.

The Fund uses a value approach to investing - that is, it looks for common stocks that the investment manager believes are undervalued and have great appreciation potential. The manager places special focus on companies whose market prices are low in relation to earnings. In addition, the manager also considers factors such as the following about the issuer:

- Book-to-market value
- Price-to-cash flow ratio
- Price-to-sales ratio
- Earnings estimates for the next 12 months
- Five-year return on equity

The Fund may sell a stock when Forester Capital thinks the stock is too expensive compared to Forester Capital's estimate of the company's intrinsic value, changing circumstances affect the original reasons for a company's purchase, a company exhibits deteriorating fundamentals or more attractive alternatives exist.

RISK CONTROL. In order to enhance returns, by avoiding the declines that follow bursting financial bubbles, at times, Forester Capital may determine that market or economic conditions warrant a defensive position. During these defensive periods, the Fund may invest some or all of its assets in money market funds and instruments (like U.S. Treasury Bills, commercial paper or repurchase agreements) or high-grade debt securities (such as U.S. Treasury Notes and Bonds, U.S. Government Agency bonds or corporate bonds) giving up the potential for capital growth to minimize potential losses. The Fund may also buy stock index options.

PRINCIPAL RISKS

Like all mutual funds that invest in stocks, the Forester Funds take investment risks and it is possible for you to lose money by investing in the Fund. The portfolio manager's ability to choose suitable investments for the Fund has a significant impact on the Fund's ability to achieve its investment objective. The principal factors that might reduce the Fund's return include:

Stock Market Risk: The Fund invests primarily in common stocks and other equity securities. Over time, stocks have shown greater growth than other types of securities. In the short-term, however, stock prices fluctuate widely in response to company, market, economic or other news.

Value Investing Risk: From time to time "value" investing falls out of favor with investors. When it does, there is the risk that the market will not recognize a company's improving fundamentals as quickly as it normally would. During these periods, the Fund's relative performance may suffer.

Emphasize Sector Risk: If the Fund has a higher percentage of its total assets invested in a particular sector, changes affecting that sector may have a significant impact on the Fund's overall portfolio.

Foreign Investment Risk: Foreign stocks as an asset class may underperform U.S. stocks, and foreign stocks tend to be more volatile than U.S. stocks. Risks relating to investments in foreign securities (including American Depositary Receipts or "ADRs") include: currency exchange rate fluctuation; less available public information about the issuers of securities; less stringent regulatory standards; lack of uniform accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards; and country risks including less liquidity, high inflation rates, unfavorable economic practices, political instability, war, expropriation, and nationalization.

Currency Risk: Foreign securities are usually denominated and traded in foreign currencies, while the Fund values its assets in U.S. dollars. The exchange rates between foreign currencies and the U.S. dollar fluctuate daily. As a result, the values of the Fund's investments will be affected favorably or unfavorably by changes in currency exchange rates relative to the U.S. dollar. The Fund may have a significant portion of its assets invested in securities denominated in the euro or yen, so the exchange rate between the euro and/or the yen and the U.S. dollar may have a significant impact on the value of the Fund's investments.

Emerging Market Risk: The risks of foreign investments are typically increased in emerging markets. For example, political and economic structures in these less developed countries may be new and changing rapidly, which may cause instability. Their securities markets may be less developed. These countries are also more likely to experience high levels of inflation, deflation or currency devaluations, which could hurt their economies and securities markets.

Smaller Capitalization Companies Risk: Stocks of small companies tend to be more volatile and less liquid than stocks of large companies. Small companies may have a shorter history of operations, less access to additional financing, and a less diversified product line, making them more susceptible to market pressures.

Varying Market Exposure: If the Fund is in a defensive or offensive position, the Fund may not go in the same direction as the market and the Fund's performance may suffer.

Fixed Income Risk: The primary risk associated with fixed income are: (1) the fixed income instrument may not go in the same direction as the market and the Fund's performance may suffer; (2) interest rates may rise, reducing the principal value of the instrument; and (3) the credit rating of the U.S. Agency instrument may materially differ from a similar U.S. Treasury.

An investment in the Fund is not a bank deposit, and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) or any other Government agency.

Because of these risks the Fund is a suitable investment only for those investors who have long-term investment goals. Prospective investors who are uncomfortable with an investment that will increase and decrease in value should not invest in the Fund.

FUND PERFORMANCE - Discovery Fund

The following bar charts show the Fund's year by year returns. This information shows how the Fund's returns have varied over time. Please remember that the Fund's past performance is not necessarily an indication of its future performance. It may perform better or worse in the future.

From inception 9/10/99 through 12/31/09, the Fund's highest and lowest quarterly returns were 14.24% and -5.60%, respectively, for the quarters ended June 30, 2009 and March 31, 2009. The year-to-date return as of June 30, 2010, was -7.0%.

The tables below show the Fund's average annual total returns (before and after taxes) and the change in value of a broad-based market index over various periods ended December 31, 2009. The information provides some indication of the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance from year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns for 1, 5, and 10 years compare with those of broad measure of market's performance. The Fund's past performance (before and after taxes) is not necessarily an indication of how the Fund will perform in the future.

After-tax returns are calculated using the highest individual federal marginal income tax rate in effect at the time of each distribution and assumed sale, but do not include the impact of state and local taxes.

Your actual after-tax returns depend on your own tax situation and may differ from those shown. After-tax returns reflect past tax effects and are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares in a tax-deferred account (including a 401(k) or IRA account), or to investors that are tax-exempt.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON STRATEGIES AND RISK

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The Fund seeks maximum long-term capital growth. The Fund may change this objective without the approval of shareholders, but will give shareholders not less than thirty (30) days advance notice if it does so.

The Fund is diversified and invests in stocks of companies throughout the world that it believes are under-valued and have great appreciation potential.

The Fund generally invests at least 65% of its net assets in the common stock of non-U.S. companies. These companies may operate in developed countries, such as the Western European countries, Japan and Canada, as well as in firms based in emerging markets, typically in the Far East, Latin America and Eastern Europe. There are no restrictions on the size of the companies in which the Fund may invest.

The Fund generally purchases a stock only at a price Forester Capital Management ("Forester Capital" or "FCM"), the Fund's investment adviser, deems significantly below the intrinsic value of the company - Forester Capital's estimate of the amount a buyer would pay to own the entire company. Forester Capital performs its own fundamental analysis of the company. A description of the policies and procedures employed by the Fund with respect to the disclosure of Fund portfolio holdings is available in the Fund's statement of additional information ("SAI"), dated July 31, 2010.

The Fund uses a value approach to investing - that is, it looks for common stocks that the investment manager believes are undervalued and have great appreciation potential. The manager places special focus on companies whose market prices are low in relation to earnings. In addition, the manager also considers factors such as the following about the issuer:

- Book-to-market value
- Price-to-cash flow ratio
- Price-to-sales ratio
- Earnings estimates for the next 12 months
- Five-year return on equity

Securities may be undervalued as a result of overreaction by investors to unfavorable news about a company, industry or the stock markets in general or as a result of a market decline, poor economic conditions, or actual or anticipated unfavorable developments affecting the company. This under-valuation may lead to great appreciation potential for the security. Under normal market conditions, the fund invests its assets in common stock of international companies. The Fund may also invest in preferred stocks, convertible securities, warrants and foreign securities. The Fund may also invest in stock index futures and options to buy and sell such futures. The Fund also sells securities that the investment manager considers to be overvalued or fairly valued as necessary to keep focused on undervalued companies.

The Fund may sell a stock when Forester Capital thinks the stock is too expensive compared to Forester Capital's estimate of the company's intrinsic value, changing circumstances affect the original reasons for a company's purchase, a company exhibits deteriorating fundamentals or more attractive alternatives exist.

RISK CONTROL: In order to enhance returns, by avoiding the declines that follow bursting financial bubbles, at times, Forester Capital may determine that market or economic conditions warrant a defensive position. During these defensive periods, the Fund may invest some or all of its assets in money market funds and instruments (like U.S. Treasury Bills, commercial paper or repurchase agreements) or high-grade debt securities (such as U.S. Treasury Notes and Bonds, U.S. Government Agency bonds or corporate bonds) giving up the potential for capital growth to minimize potential losses. The Fund was in a defensive position from inception through October, 2008. If the Fund sells index futures, buys index puts, or buys inverse funds or inverse ETFs, these investments move inverse to the market. They protect the fund in falling markets, but hurt performance if the market rises. Taking a defensive position may cause the Fund to not achieve its investment objective

PRINCIPAL RISK FACTORS

Like all mutual funds that invest in stocks, the Forester Funds take investment risks and it is possible for you to lose money by investing in the Fund. The portfolio manager's ability to choose suitable investments for the Fund has a significant impact on the Fund's ability to achieve its investment objective. The principal factors that might reduce the Fund's return include:

Stock Market Risk: The Fund invests primarily in common stocks and other equity securities. Over time, stocks have shown greater growth than other types of securities. In the short-term, however, stock prices fluctuate widely in response to company, market, economic or other news.

Foreign Investment Risk: Foreign stocks as an asset class may underperform U.S. stocks, and foreign stocks tend to be more volatile than U.S. stocks. Risks relating to investments in foreign securities (including American Depositary Receipts or "ADRs") include: currency exchange rate fluctuation; less available public information about the issuers of securities; less stringent regulatory standards; lack of uniform accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards; and country risks including less liquidity, high inflation rates, unfavorable economic practices, political instability, war, expropriation, and nationalization.

Currency Risk: Foreign securities are usually denominated and traded in foreign currencies, while the Fund values its assets in U.S. dollars. The exchange rates between foreign currencies and the U.S. dollar fluctuate daily. As a result, the values of the Fund's investments will be affected favorably or unfavorably by changes in currency exchange rates relative to the U.S. dollar. The Fund may have a significant portion of its assets invested in securities denominated in the euro or yen, so the exchange rate between the euro and/or the yen and the U.S. dollar may have a significant impact on the value of the Fund's investments.

Emerging Market Risk: The risks of foreign investments are typically increased in emerging markets. For example, political and economic structures in these less developed countries may be new and changing rapidly, which may cause instability. Their securities markets may be less developed. These countries are also more likely to experience high levels of inflation, deflation or currency devaluations, which could hurt their economies and securities markets.

Varying Market Exposure Risk: If the Fund is in a defensive or offensive position, the Fund may not go in the same direction as the market and the Fund's performance may suffer.

An investment in the Fund is not a bank deposit, and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) or any other Government agency.

Because of these risks the Fund is a suitable investment only for those investors who have long-term investment goals. Prospective investors who are uncomfortable with an investment that will increase and decrease in value should not invest in the Fund.

The Fund's SAI contains more information about the Portfolio Manager's compensation, other accounts managed by the Portfolio Manager, and the Portfolio Manager's ownership of Fund shares.

Management and Administrative Fees: The Forester Discovery Fund pays a management fee to Forester Capital for serving as its investment adviser and providing administrative services. The annual fee is determined as a percentage of average daily net assets. The Fund also pays an administrative fee for all other expenses related to its daily operations. Expenses paid out of the Fund's assets are reflected in the share price and dividends. For the fiscal year ended March 31, 2010, the Fund paid total annual fees to Forester Capital of 1.35% of the Fund's average daily net assets, which included 1.00% for investment advisory services and 0.35% for administrative services. Forester Capital, in accordance with its commitment to the Fund, waived all of its fees during the fiscal year. The Fund's latest Audited Annual Report, dated March 31, 2010, and the SAI contain more information about the factors considered by the Board when it last renewed the investment advisory agreement with Forester Capital.

FUND'S SHARE PRICE

The price at which investors purchase shares of the Fund and at which shareholders redeem shares of the Fund is called its net asset value. The Fund calculates its net asset value as of the close of regular trading on the New York Stock Exchange (normally 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time) on each day the New York Stock Exchange is open for trading. The New York Stock Exchange is closed on holidays (New Year's Day, Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, President's Day, Good Friday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day) and weekends. The Fund's shares will not be priced when the New York Stock Exchange is closed. The Fund calculates its net asset value based on the market prices of the securities. The Fund will process purchase orders that it receives in good order and accepts and redemption orders that it receives in good order prior to the close of regular trading on a day that the New York Stock Exchange is open at the net asset value determined later that day. It will process purchase orders that it receives in good order and accepts and redemption orders that it receives in good order after the close of regular trading at the net asset value determined at the close of regular trading on the next day the New York Stock Exchange is open.

Fair Value Pricing

The Board of Directors has delegated to Forester Capital responsibility for determining the value of Fund portfolio securities under certain circumstances. Under such circumstances, Forester Capital will use its best efforts to arrive at the fair value of a security held by the Fund under all reasonably ascertainable facts and circumstances. Forester Capital must prepare a report for the Board not less than quarterly containing a complete listing of any securities for which fair value pricing was employed and detailing the specific reasons for such fair value pricing. The Fund has adopted written policies and procedures to guide Forester Capital with respect to the circumstances under which, and the methods to be used, in fair valuing securities.

The Fund invests the vast majority of its assets in frequently traded exchange listed securities of domestic issuers with relatively liquid markets and calculate its NAV as of the time those exchanges close. The Fund typically does not invest in securities on foreign exchanges or in illiquid or restricted securities. Accordingly, there may be very limited circumstances under which the Fund would ever hold a security that would need to be fair value priced. Examples of when it would be likely that a portfolio security would require fair value pricing include but are not limited to: if the exchange on which a portfolio security traded were to close early; if trading in a particular security were to be halted on an exchange and did not resume trading prior to calculation of NAV; if a significant event that materially affected the value of a security were to occur after the securities' exchange had closed but before the Fund's NAV had been calculated; and if a security that had a significant exposure to foreign operations was subject to a material event or occurrence in a foreign jurisdiction in which the company had significant operations.

When a security is fair value priced, it means that Forester Capital is calculating the value of that security on a day and under circumstances where reliable pricing information from normal sources is not available. Accordingly, there is always the possibility that Forester Capital's calculations concerning security value could be wrong, and as a result, the Fund's NAV on that day could be higher or lower, depending on how the security was valued, than would otherwise be the case.

Other Information about Purchasing Shares of the Fund

DISTRIBUTION PLAN

The Fund has adopted, but not yet implemented, a Plan of Distribution Pursuant to Rule 12b-1 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the 12b-1 Plan) for the Fund, pursuant to which the Fund is permitted to accrue and pay a fee for shareholder servicing expenses not to exceed 0.25% per annum of the Fund's average daily net assets. The Fund may accrue, collect and pay such fees to third parties for eligible services provided by those parties to the Fund.

The Fund has not implemented the 12b-1 Plan and does not foresee doing so in the coming year. The Board adopted the Plan so that, if and when necessary, the Fund would have available sufficient resources to pay third parties who provide eligible services to the Fund.

If the 12b-1 Plan is implemented in the future, you should be aware that because these fees are paid out of the Fund's assets on an ongoing basis, over time these fees will increase the costs of your investment and may cost you more than paying other types of sales charges. For further information regarding the 12b-1 Plan, see the SAI.

If your shares are held by a Servicing Agent, you must redeem your shares through the Servicing Agent. Contact the Servicing Agent for instructions on how to do so.

Those shareholders who redeem shares through Servicing Agents will receive their redemption proceeds in accordance with the procedures established by the Servicing Agent.

Other Redemption Considerations

When redeeming shares of the Fund, shareholders should consider the following:

1. The redemption may result in a taxable gain.

2. If you purchased shares by check, the Fund may delay the payment of redemption proceeds until they are reasonably satisfied the check has cleared (which may take up to 15 days from the date of purchase).
3. If your account balance falls below $1,000 because you redeem shares, you will be given 60 days to make additional investments so that your account balance is $1,000 or more. If you do not, the Fund may close your account and mail the redemption proceeds to you.
4. The Fund may pay redemption requests "in kind." This means that the Fund will pay redemption requests entirely or partially with securities rather than with cash.

FREQUENT PURCHASES AND REDEMPTIONS OF FUND SHARES

Frequent purchases and sales of Fund shares (popularly known as "market timing") can harm shareholders in various ways, including reducing the returns to long-term shareholders by increasing costs to the Fund (such as brokerage commissions), disrupting portfolio management strategies, and diluting the value of the shares of long-term shareholders in cases in which fluctuations in markets are not fully priced into the Fund's NAV. The Fund's Board of Directors is firmly opposed to allowing shareholders of the Fund to engage in these types of practices. Accordingly, the Board of Directors has adopted policies and procedures designed to discourage excessive or short-term trading of Fund shares. You should be aware that there is the risk that the Fund's policies and procedures will prove ineffective in whole or in part to detect or prevent frequent trading. The Fund may alter its policies at any time without prior notice to shareholders.

Although shareholders who engage in market timing activities can harm the Fund, the Board has noted an important distinction between market timers, who the Board seeks to discourage from using the Fund, and other shareholders. Shareholders who purchase Fund shares and then, for whatever reason, must redeem them are not market timers. Market timers are shareholders who repeatedly purchase and redeem shares in the Fund in an attempt to gain short term advantages from their trading activity. These types of shareholders are disruptive to the Fund, and it is these types of shareholders that the Fund seeks to discourage from purchasing Fund shares.

In order to discourage frequent purchasing and redemption of Fund shares, the Fund reserves the right, but does not have the obligation, to reject any purchase or exchange transaction at any time. In addition, Forester Capital has been granted the authority to impose restrictions in addition to those that are otherwise stated in this prospectus on purchases or exchanges under conditions where Forester Capital has identified a trading pattern by a shareholder that is particularly disruptive, excessive, or extremely short-term in duration.

The Fund further prohibits any person associated with the Fund from entering into any arrangement with any person to permit frequent purchases and redemption of Fund shares. The Fund's Chief Compliance Officer is responsible for monitoring the Fund's policies and procedures to discourage frequent purchases and redemptions and prepares periodic reports to the board concerning the implementation and effectiveness of those policies and procedures.

Forester Capital is authorized to suspend the Fund's policies during periods of severe market turbulence or national emergency only. There is no assurance that Forester Capital will exercise this authority or that by exercising this authority the Fund will be protected from the risks associated with frequent trading. The actions of Forester Capital are periodically reviewed with the Board of Directors.

DIVIDENDS, DISTRIBUTIONS AND TAXES

The Fund distributes substantially all of its net investment income and its capital gains annually. You have two distribution options:

- o Automatic Reinvestment Option - Both dividend and capital gains distributions will be reinvested in additional Fund Shares.
- o All Cash Option - Both dividend and capital gains distributions will be paid in cash.

You may make this election on the Share Purchase Application. You may change your election by writing to the Fund.

The Fund's distributions, whether received in cash or additional shares of the Fund, may be subject to federal and state income tax. These distributions may be taxed as ordinary income and capital gains (which may be taxed at different rates depending on the length of time the Fund holds the assets generating the capital gains). The Fund expect that its distributions, as a result of its investment objectives or strategies, will consist primarily of ordinary income or capital gains. An exchange of the Fund's shares for shares of another fund will be treated as a sale of the Fund's shares and any gain on the transaction may be subject to federal and state income tax.

The Fund annually will endeavor to qualify for and elect tax treatment applicable to a regulated investment company under Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (the "Code"). The Fund has so qualified in each of its fiscal years. If a Fund fails to qualify as a regulated investment company under Subchapter M in any fiscal year, it will be treated as a corporation for federal income tax purposes. As such the Fund would be required to pay income taxes on its net investment income and net realized capital gains, if any, at the rates generally applicable to corporations. Stockholders of a Fund that did not qualify as a regulated investment company under Subchapter M would not be liable for income tax on the Fund's net investment income or net realized capital gains in their individual capacities. Distributions to stockholders, whether from the Fund's net investment income or net realized capital gains, would be treated as taxable dividends to the extent of current or accumulated earnings and profits of the Fund.

The Fund intends to distribute all of its net investment income and net capital gain each fiscal year. Dividends from net investment income (including short-term capital gain) are taxable to investors as ordinary income, whereas distributions of net realized long-term capital gains are taxable as long-term capital gains regardless of the stockholder's holding period for the shares. Such dividends and distributions are taxable to stockholders, whether received in cash or in additional shares of the respective Fund. A portion of the Fund's income distributions may be eligible for the 70% dividends-received deduction for domestic corporate stockholders.

Any dividend or capital gain distribution paid shortly after a purchase of shares of a Fund will have the effect of reducing the per share net asset value of such shares by the amount of the dividend or distribution. Furthermore, if the net asset value of the shares of a Fund immediately after a dividend or distribution is less than the cost of such shares to the investor, the dividend or distribution will be taxable to the investor.

Redemption of shares will generally result in a capital gain or loss for income tax purposes. The tax treatment of such capital gain or loss will depend upon the stockholder's holding period. However, if a loss is realized on shares held for six months or less, and the stockholder received a capital gain distribution during that period, then such loss is treated as long-term capital loss to the extent of the capital gain distribution received.

This section is not intended to be a full discussion of present or proposed federal income tax laws and the effect of such laws on an investor. Investors are urged to consult with their respective tax advisers for a complete review of the tax ramifications of an investment in a Fund.
